

Click Here

Nys dmv road test results

The other day, one of our students here at Pierre Paul Driving School called in and asked, "I got 30 points on my road test. Does that mean I failed or passed the test?" Well, whether you fail or pass the road test, depends on the NYS road test scoring sheet. During the NY road test, your examiner will use a score sheet to come up with a final score, which will determine whether you passed or failed the road test. Here's the picture of the exact NYS road test scoring sheet your examiner will use. As you can see, the score sheet has 31 possible mistakes that people can make during a driving test and the points they accumulate per mistake. For every mistake, you may accumulate 5, 10, or 15 points. If you accumulate over 30 points, that's a fail. However, if you get 30 points or less, that's a pass. We created a table with some handy tips to help you avoid each mistake and do the right thing, so you don't accumulate too many points and fail your road test. Read this table to boost your confidence about passing the test and move one step closer to enjoying the driver's seat.

Section Test Item Points Deducted

What You Should Do to Pass Road Test

A. LEAVING CURB1. Fails to observe10. Check the rearview and side mirror. Adjust them properly.2. Fails to signal5. Check ahead and behind. Use signal to alert other drivers.3. Uses mirror only /Fails to check blind spot5. Areas to the side of your car that you cannot see with side mirrors or rear mirrors are called blind spots. Shift your body and use a shoulder check. B. TURNING AND INTERSECTIONS4. Poor judgment approaching or intersections- Stopping- Turning- Observing Signal10. Monitor and adjust speed- Slow for a turn- Decelerate for a stop- Check other users, whether pedestrians or cyclists Attend to signals or signs5. Fails to stop near center of intersection when waiting to make left turn10. Try to keep your wheels straight while waiting to make a left turn. If another vehicle hits you from behind, this ensures that you will not be pushed into oncoming traffic.6. Turns wide - short rights5- Slow down and stay as far to the right as possible. Begin the turn in the lane nearest to the right-hand curb and end the turn in the lane nearest the right-hand curb.- Give a turn signal.7. Turns wide - short lefts5- Indicate the left turn signal before you make the turn and slow down.- Check both ways and make sure that the oncoming lanes are clear.- Do not enter into the right lane. 8. Inattentive to traffic- Signs- Signals- Lane markings10. Remain attentive to all signs, signals and lane markings. C. PACKING, BACKING AND U-TURN9. Fails to signal5- Before changing lanes, ensure you signal what you intend to do, either with the signal lights or by arm signals.- Avoid getting pulled over and slapped with a traffic violation for failure to signal.10. Fails to adequately observe/use caution10. Pay attention to other cars parked nearby, oncoming cars, your distance from the curb, pedestrians or other property that can distract you. This ensures safe parking, backing or making a u-turn.11. Unable to park properly15. Parking properly requires practice. Parking is a physical skill that no amount of advice will help you master. Do it over and over again. Go to the parking lot when nobody is there and do it between cones if you have to. Parking fears and anxiety disappears with time.12. Unable to make a 3-point turn15. This is rarely the problem. Be sure to move out of the driveways and observe correctly before making this turn. Read more on how to make a three-point turn correctly.13. Excessive space for parking too far from the curb5. Bring the wheels straight and then pull forward. Give room for vehicles behind and ahead. In your final position, ensure the wheels are not more than 30 cm or one foot from the curb.14. Excessive maneuvers in 3-point turns5. Familiarize yourself with the 3-point turn maneuvers and the proper positioning of your car. A practical lesson on 3 point turn with your instructor a few days to the road test NY will do. D. DRIVING IN TRAFFIC15. Fails to keep right10. Failing to keep right when driving towards oncoming traffic is a motor vehicle violation in New York and many other states. Keep right16. Improper lane traffic10. Here's what you need to do when changing lanes:- Turn on the signal- Take a look at mirrors and check your blind spot- Turn off signal17. Follows too closely10. The space between you and the vehicle in front should be enough for another car to occupy. The NY DMV Driver's Manual recommends leaving a space of 2 seconds between you and the next vehicle.18. Speed excessive for Conditions-- Traffic- Weather- Road15. Adjust your speed accordingly for weather, traffic, road, and visibility conditions19. Driving too slowly15. Stay within the speed limit. When in traffic, don't drive too slowly as you may hinder traffic flow.20. Fails to yield right of way-- Pedestrian- Other15. Always yield the right of way when there are:- Emergency vehicles - Blind people- Pedestrians on marked or unmarked crosswalks- Entering an intersection with traffic backed up on the other side- You reach an intersection, approach another driver from the opposite side at the same time, and turn left, you must yield to the traffic that turns right or moves straight. Here are more situations that require you to give the right of way.21. Poor judgment in traffic10. To improve your judgment in traffic:- Adjust your mirrors- Keep your eyes moving- Leave more space between you and the vehicle head- Get to know about the safety features of your car- Don't be blinded by high beams- Cut out distractions like talking on phone or eating22. When changing lanes, fails to- observe- signal- use caution10. Before changing lanes:- Look over your shoulder and check your blind spot- Observe to see a clear gap in traffic- Be alert to other drivers getting into the same lane- Signal23. Fails to anticipate action of Pedestrians Other10. Constantly scan the road ahead and check the mirrors. Always know what's happening- ahead- behind- to the side. The places and times to be extra careful include:- Rush hour- Parked cars- School children-- At road works24. Fails to anticipate potential hazards10. Pay attention to:- Other drivers- Road signs and markings- Signals given by other drivers- The road condition and type- Animals- Pedestrians, especially young, old and the disabled. E. VEHICLE CONTROL25. Repeated stalling10. Stalling may occur due to a number of reasons, including clutch release problems, bad fuel pump, empty fuel tank, inadequate fuel mixture and dead battery, just to name a few. To avoid this mistake, get adequate supervised driving lessons before the test and ensure your car is in a good condition before the test.26. Poor engine control/deceleration10. If your car is losing power it means the engine has not been properly serviced or parts, such as sensors and sparks are worn out. It's time to service your car. Ensure your road test car is in perfect condition before you schedule the test.27. Poor steering control- Turning- Straight driving- Maneuvers15. Hold your steering wheel at 10 o'clock and 2 o'clock position to enable you to drive straight or make small maneuvers and small turns on the road.28. Delayed braking/ Abrupt braking10. Start braking before your stopping position so you can keep things smooth and your New York examiner happy.29. Poor use of gears:- Automatic - Manual10- Ensure you're in the appropriate gear for every situation and adjust the gears to speed.- Don't make rapid transitions when shifting gears as it may cause stalling and pressure the engine.- Take enough supervised driving practice before the test.30. Poor clutch control15. As you feel your car begin to move, start releasing the clutch slowly. Don't do it suddenly because that would stall the car. Take more practical driving lessons with our instructors at Pierre Paul Driving School to master clutch control.31. Poor reaction to emergencies.10. Whenever you experience a driving emergency, the most important rule is do not panic. Here are different types of road emergencies and how to respond to them like a pro. To pass the road test the first try, you must learn to drive under an experienced instructor. Check out our affordable driving lessons and enroll today to receive the best lessons from New York's most qualified, patient, and understanding instructors. If you haven't enrolled in our online 5-hour class, you should do that before the road test. Learn more about this class here. Beginning on May 7, 2025, the federal government requires your driver license, permit or ID card to be REAL ID compliant if you wish to use it as identification to board a domestic flight (within the U.S.). To view this video please enable JavaScript, and consider upgrading to a web browser that supports HTML5 video. As part of the statewide NY HELPS (Hiring for Emergency Limited Placement Statewide) initiative, the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles is actively recruiting candidates for many permanent positions, from entry-level to professional traineeships. These positions do not require you to take a civil service exam. Many positions in the DMV are filled through competitive exams. These exams assess a candidates' knowledge, skills, and abilities. They are open to anyone who meets the minimum qualifications indicated on the exam announcement. After an exam, an applicants' name is added to an eligible list and they are invited to interview as roles become available. More About Exams and Lists Learn if any recalls affect your vehicle or related equipment and find out how to get the necessary repairs or replacements. Navigating the process of checking your DMV road test results in New York can be a daunting task, especially after the anticipation of taking the test itself. Whether you're waiting for your NYS DMV road test results online or you've heard that results are updated after 6 PM, knowing exactly where and how to check can save you time and anxiety. At Pilot Ace Driving School, we understand the importance of these moments, and we are here to guide you through every step of the way. In this detailed guide, you will find everything you need to know about accessing your road test results, understanding what they mean, and what to do next. Interpreting your road test results is essential for determining your next steps. If you pass, your results will indicate a successful performance with minimal errors, allowing you to receive a temporary license immediately, which permits you to drive legally until your permanent license arrives in the mail within a few weeks. If you don't pass, your results will include detailed feedback on areas needing improvement, such as parking skills, vehicle control, compliance with traffic laws, and situational awareness. Carefully review this feedback to understand where you need more practice, focusing on these areas before scheduling a retest. Additional lessons can help strengthen your skills. Understanding your road test results will guide you in preparing for your next steps, whether you are celebrating your new driving privileges or getting ready for a retest. Before diving into how to check your results, it's essential to understand what the DMV road test entails. The road test evaluates your ability to operate a vehicle safely and follow traffic laws. It typically includes: Parallel Parking: Demonstrating your ability to park between two vehicles. Three-Point Turns: Showing you can turn your vehicle around in a small space. Lane Changes: Safely changing lanes while signaling and checking blind spots. Obeying Traffic Signals and Signs: Following all road signs and signals accurately. Merging onto Highways: Entering and exiting highways safely. General Driving Skills: Overall control of the vehicle, steering, acceleration, and braking. To check your road test results in New York, you will need specific information to access your results online. Here is the essential information you should have ready: DMV ID Number: This is your unique identifier provided by the New York State DMV. It can be found on your learner's permit or any official DMV documents. Date of Birth: Your date of birth is required to verify your identity. Road Test Date: The exact date you took your road test. Driver's License Number (if applicable): If you already have a driver's license number, have it ready. Having this information at hand will ensure a smooth and quick process when you check your road test results online, either through NYRTSScheduler.com or the NYS DMV website. Once you've completed your road test, you may be eager to know how you performed. Here are the steps to check your DMV road test results in New York: One of the quickest ways to access your road test results is through the NYRTSScheduler.com portal. This platform allows you to schedule, reschedule, and check your road test results. Visit NYRTSScheduler.com. Log in with your credentials. Navigate to the 'Check Road Test Results' section. Enter the required details, such as your test date and driver's license number. The New York State Department of Motor Vehicles (NYS DMV) also provides an online service to check your road test results. Go to the NYS DMV website. Select 'Road Test Results' from the online services menu. Provide your DMV ID number and the date of your road test. In some cases, road test results are updated after 6 PM on the day of your test. If you don't see your results immediately, it may be worth checking back later in the evening. If you are unable to access your results online, you can visit your local DMV office. Bring your test documentation and ID for assistance. Understanding your road test results is crucial for knowing your next steps. The results will indicate whether you passed or failed and provide feedback on your performance. If you pass your road test, you will receive a temporary license immediately. Your permanent license will arrive in the mail within a few weeks. Celebrate your achievement and remember to always drive safely! If you do not pass your road test, don't be discouraged. Many people need multiple attempts. Here's what to do: Review Feedback: Carefully read the feedback provided by the examiner to understand where you need improvement. Practice: Focus on the areas where you struggled. Consider additional lessons with Pilot Ace Driving School. Retake the Test: Schedule a new test through NYRTSScheduler.com or the NYS DMV website as soon as you feel ready. Prepare Thoroughly: Practice all the maneuvers you will be tested on. Stay Calm: Keep your nerves in check during your test, check for any cancellations, closings, and delays. Arrive up to 15 minutes before the time of your test. If you are late, the license examiner may not be able to conduct your test and you will have to reschedule. Please note: Not all road test locations have a shelter. Please be prepared for inclement weather conditions. Possession of a firearm, rifle, or shotgun in or upon any New York State DMV road test site is prohibited by law unless otherwise authorized (Penal Law §265.01-D, 265.01-E). Bring a licensed and registered vehicle to perform the road test; your physical photo learner permit; your glasses or contacts, if your permit indicates you need corrective lenses; your original Pre-licensing Course Certificate (MV-278) or Student Certificate of Completion (MV-285). Copies are not acceptable. Certification of Supervised Driving (PDF) (MV-262), if you are under 18, completed by your parent or guardian - must be given to the license examiner each time you take a road test as a driver over the age of 18 (if driving the vehicle to the test site) or over the age of 21 (if accompanying the permit-holder to the test site). In either situation, the other driver must have a physical driver's license that is valid to operate the test vehicle; the vehicle to drive during the test that has a valid registration and inspection, operates properly, and is in clean condition. If driving a rental vehicle, you must provide the rental agreement and written permission authorizing use of the vehicle for the road test; the accompanying driver of the vehicle (no other passengers are allowed); Please note: Mobile ID (MiD) is not acceptable for either driver. After the road test, the examiner will give you instructions on how to receive your test results by visiting roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com. Your results will be posted to the website after 6 p.m. on the day of your test. If You Pass: An interim license that allows you to drive will be available to you online - keep the interim license with your photo learner permit. You will receive your photo driver license in the mail, in about 2 weeks. Drivers of all ages are subject to a probationary period for new drivers. If you are under age 18 and have a Class DJ, MJ, or DJ/MJ driver license, you must obey the restrictions for junior drivers (see Graduated Driver License (GDL) Law and restrictions on drivers under age 18). If You Fail: If you fail a non-commercial license road test, your learner permit remains valid until the expiration date. You can schedule another road test, but you must pay additional fees if you failed your first two road tests. You must wait at least 7 days to take the test again. To pay for additional tests, you must have a valid learner permit or driver license; provide your DMV ID Number from your Learner Permit (Client ID Number) and your date of birth; have no other road tests currently available; pay the fee with a credit or debit card; pay additional road test fees online; pay for additional road tests by phone: 1-518-402-2100. When it comes to getting your driver's license in New York, one of the most important steps is passing the road test. To make the process easier, the New York State Department of Motor Vehicles (NYS DMV) offers an online portal called roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com, where you can check your road test results. In this guide, we'll break down everything you need to know about this portal, including how to use it, what to expect from your road test, and some frequently asked questions to help you navigate the process smoothly. ALSO READ: FREE K53 Learners Test Questions And Answers PDF What is roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com? roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com is the official website where applicants in New York can check the results of their DMV road test. This platform is part of the NYS DMV system and is specifically designed for applicants to conveniently access their road test results online, usually within a few hours after completing the test. The website is user-friendly and accessible from any device with an internet connection, making it easier for applicants to know whether they have passed or failed their road test without having to visit a DMV office. How to Use roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com To check your results on roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com, follow these simple steps: Visit the Website: Go to roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com. Enter Your Information: You will need to provide your New York State learner's permit ID number and the date of your road test. View Your Results: Once you've entered the required details, click "Search" to view your road test results. The results are typically available within a few hours after the test, but in some cases, it may take up to 48 hours for the system to update. What to Expect from Your NYS DMV Road Test Taking a road test in New York is a critical step toward obtaining your driver's license. During the test, you'll be evaluated on various aspects of driving, including: Starting and stopping the vehicle Turning and changing lanes safely Obeying traffic signals and signs Parking (parallel parking is often included) Proper use of mirrors and seat belts Your examiner will be seated in the passenger seat and provide you with instructions throughout the test. The test generally lasts between 10-20 minutes, and you will be scored based on your performance. Common reasons for failing include failing to yield, making unsafe lane changes, and not following speed limits. After the test, you can check your road test results on roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com to see if you passed or need to retake the exam. NYC Road Test: What You Should Know The NYC road test is no different from the road test conducted elsewhere in New York State, but there are a few things to keep in mind if you're taking the test in New York City: Traffic: NYC has heavy traffic, and navigating through it can add to the complexity of the test. Street Parking: If you're taking the test in an urban area, you may be required to perform parking maneuvers in tight spaces. Pedestrians: NYC streets are often crowded with pedestrians, so you'll need to be extra cautious when driving. Checking your road test results in NYC is the same as elsewhere in the state: simply use the roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com portal to access your performance. Common Questions About DMV Road Test Results How long does it take for road test results to be available? Typically, road test results are available within a few hours of taking the test. In rare cases, it may take up to 48 hours. Once the results are posted, you can view them on roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com by entering your permit ID and test date. What happens if I fail my road test? If you fail your road test, you can reschedule another test through the NYS DMV. You'll need to wait at least one day before scheduling a new appointment. Use the roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com website to check your previous test results and learn where you made mistakes so you can improve for your next attempt. What do I need to bring to my road test? For your road test, you must bring the following: A valid New York State learner's permit A registered and inspected vehicle with proper insurance A supervising driver who is at least 21 years old (if required) Can I appeal my road test results? If you believe there was an error in your road test results, you can contact the NYS DMV to file an appeal. However, it is rare for test results to be overturned unless there is clear evidence of a mistake or unfair assessment. How many times can I take the road test? You can take the road test as many times as needed, but each attempt requires a new appointment, which can be scheduled through the NYS DMV website. Can I check someone else's road test results? No, you can only check your own road test results on roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com. You must have your permit ID and test date to access the results. Conclusion The process of obtaining a driver's license in New York includes passing a road test, and the roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com portal makes it easy to check your test results from the comfort of your home. Whether you passed or need to try again, the website provides quick access to your test performance so you can move forward in the licensing process. If you're preparing for your road test, make sure to practice the required skills, follow the rules of the road, and remain calm during the test. And remember, whether you're in NYC or anywhere else in New York State, the NYS DMV has made checking your DMV road test results simple and convenient through roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com. FAQs How soon after my road test can I check my results? Results are usually available within a few hours, but it may take up to 48 hours in some cases. Can I retake the road test if I fail? Yes, if you fail your road test, you can reschedule through the NYS DMV. Is the road test harder in NYC? While the road test itself is the same throughout New York State, driving in NYC can be more challenging due to traffic and street conditions. What if I have issues accessing my results on roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com? If you experience any technical difficulties, try refreshing the page or contacting the NYS DMV for assistance. By familiarizing yourself with the roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com portal and preparing for the road test, you'll be on your way to becoming a licensed driver in New York State! Image Courtesy: roadtestresults.nyrtsscheduler.com